

MANY DEATHS FROM HEAT

Three in Boston, Three in New York

AND MANY PROSTRATIONS

Mercury Touched 91 in Boston Yesterday—Showers in Afternoon Cools Atmosphere in Many Places.

Boston, June 27.—Three deaths and over a dozen prostrations are the result of the heat wave which held Boston in its grip yesterday.

With the thermometer registering 91 degrees and still jumping and the humidity four degrees above normal, humanity continued to suffer until late in the afternoon when showers brought some relief.

While the official mark was ninety-one the thermometers on the streets and other exposed places stood about at the hundred mark.

THREE DIE IN NEW YORK

But Cool Breezes Relieve The Suffering in Afternoon.

New York, June 27.—Three deaths and many prostrations were reported due to the heat yesterday before a cool breeze sprang up and swept away some of the humidity that hung like a blanket over the city.

Tuesday's record-breaking humidity was duplicated yesterday. The temperature rose rapidly until at noon it registered 90 degrees in many thermometers on the street, although the official temperature was two degrees lower.

Cooling showers were promised by the weather bureau yesterday afternoon and evening.

TO THIRD READING.

Anti-Merger Bill Goes Through With Slight Amendment.

Boston, June 27.—The anti-railroad merger bill passed the Massachusetts senate at 3 o'clock yesterday for a third reading without division.

The measure will be included in the order of business today when action will be taken on engrossment.

Of several minor amendments which were offered in the senate during the consideration of the bill, one by Senator William Faxon of Stoughton, providing that the restrictive legislation shall not apply to railroad companies acquired by the New Haven road prior to May 1, 1907 was adopted. Changes suggested by Senators Grimes and Vahney were rejected.

DANCE ON ROLLER SKATES.

Experts in a New Fad Reach a High Degree of Proficiency.

Roller skating has reached such a degree of efficiency in these days that the expert may walk on roller skates if he wishes to or he may two-step or perform other amusing, compelling feats.

The waltz on roller skates is much like the waltz without them. It consists of three steps and the skaters go around and around to the music, reversing when it is necessary, but never losing step.

The two-step, or promenade, is even prettier and more graceful. It is like the one done at dances also—a long glide of two steps with turns and twists. The instructor at a local rink illustrated himself, explaining at the same time that both the waltz and the two-step were much prettier when two persons danced together and when there was music to mark the time.

"She didn't have to fall," he said when he returned. "If you noticed, she just let herself go without making any effort to recover her balance. That's the way women do. You seldom see a man fall."

He was asked if there had been any bad accidents in the rink this winter, and was told of a story which had gone the rounds to the effect that a young woman skating at one had fallen down and knocked out two front teeth. The young woman hastened to a dentist to have her beauty restored and had been told that if she could find her own incisors he would replace them and they would grow in place without trouble, whereupon the young woman had hastened back to the rink and had it swept, had recovered her teeth and now has them growing in their proper place. The instructor declared that this had no foundation in fact, so far as he knew.

"We have had no serious accidents," he insisted. "We won't allow very fast skating, you know, though these ball-bearing skates send one along pretty rapidly. Yet the floor management in the modern rink is so perfect that there is no excuse for broken bones."

"The instructor had one more word to say about roller skating. 'I never saw society people take hold of anything as they have of this,' he said. 'And it is small wonder, for a woman never looks better than on roller skates, if she can skate at all. It is a wonderfully graceful exercise.'"

BLOW TO HARVARD CREW.

Glass Cannot Row in The Race Today.

Red Top, Conn., June 27.—A stunning blow came to the Harvard crew yesterday when Gordon Glass, who rowed No. 6 in the Varsity eight, was declared to be unable to row and was sent to the temporary hospital to be isolated until after the race. He took a chill Tuesday afternoon while sitting on the ground and during the night his temperature was quite high. He was so much better yesterday morning that he went out with the crew, but collapsed completely when he attempted to row, and the shell came back to the dock. Dr. Mannheim examined Glass and at once said that he was too ill to go in the crew and until after the race he must be under observation. The loss is a serious one, for Glass was the heaviest man and strongest oar in the eight.

FOUR-OARED RACE TO SYRACUSE.

Cornell Second in First Event at Poughkeepsie, Yesterday.

Poughkeepsie, June 27.—Syracuse was four-oared varsity race by two lengths. Cornell second, Pennsylvania third, Columbia fourth yesterday afternoon.

Yale Tennis Crack Wins at London, England.

London, June 27.—In the All-England lawn tennis championship games at Wimbledon yesterday, Karl H. Behr, the Yale champion, beat Wilson Fox, British, 6-2, 6-2, 6-4.

ORBY WINS IRISH DERBY.

Croker's Georgetown Came in the Second.

Dublin, June 27.—Richard Croker's Orby, winner of the English Derby, won the Irish Derby yesterday. Mr. Croker's Georgetown was second. Seven horses started.

DECLARES HE CAN STARVE CANADIANS.

Word of Pat Burns, Cattle Man, Arouses British Investigators.

Winnipeg, Man., June 27.—Pat Burns, the cattle man who controls the wholesale and retail meat markets of Saskatchewan, Alberta, British Columbia and the Klondike, before the Beef Commission today calmly stated that if he abandoned his enterprises he could starve the Canadian Northwest in 10 days.

This was the climax of two weeks of energetic work by the commission investigating the condition of the livestock industry of western Canada.

It has been charged repeatedly that Burns absolutely dictates the price of every particle of meat sold west of the Great Lakes.

Burns' admission has increased the demand for radical legislation. The monopoly, it is asserted, is maintained through railroad favoritism. It developed in evidence that at Moosejaw stock yards all shippers paid $20 per ton for hay except Burns, who got his for $19 per ton.
